

Rybnik, March 6th 2018Manufacturer declaration

The manufacturer Rettig Heating Sp.z o.o hereby declares, that all Purmo steel panel radiators produced in Rybnik / Poland do not emit any kind of volatile organic compounds (VOC's).

This is proven by daily monitoring and recording of the powder painting process, and specifically by carrying out cross cut tests which guarantee the final hardening of all painted components.

Moreover the "terms of use" added to all Rettig Heating Sp.z.o.o products need to be considered!

This confirmation has been prepared at the customer's request.

Kind regards,
